

Configuration tool

The SILECS configuration tool provides users to generate controller code (for PLC or other) using a graphical user interface. It is designed to allow users to easily setup his controller without having to physically write any source code, thus saving time in the long term. The tool is an ECLIPSE-based RCP application (Rich Client Platform).